ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book would not have been written but for the help and encouragement of a number of people. The librarian and staff of the Central Library RMA Sandhurst allowed me to borrow an unlimited number of books for an unlimited time. The Staff of the Anti-Slavery Society allowed me to use their premises and pester them with questions over a six-month period. Professor Geoffrey Best of Sussex University proffered excellent advice and Mr Christopher Hibbert kindly lent me some books. Sydney Mayer has been the most tolerant of publishers and John Man the most farsighted of editors. Mrs Jean Fiddian-Green not only gave me moral support but fed my family while I was writing. Mrs Pat Hill typed the manuscript. My husband, John Keegan, read the manuscript and remained, as always, unfailingly helpful and patient. To him, as to the others, I offer my heartfelt thanks.
